POETRY.

For the Boston Morning Post.

THE FIRST LIEUTENANT IN LOVE.

Mr Editor-The Lieutenant of the New Utrecht (L. I.) Light Horse, was highly edified at the epistle published in your paper of the 9th Jane. Witness the following extract from a private communication:—"I received the Morning Post in due season, and was very much pleased with your letter to the Lieutenant. Some time ago he passed an afternoon with me, I showed him the article, and had the satisfaction to see him very much delighted with it, particularly the stanza commencing with—

'Brave Derrick, the troop's first Lieutenant appears,' &c.

When I read this verse, giving due force to the 'Brave Derrick,' his cheeks brightened, his eyes sparkled, his whole face evinced his heart's whiskers curled, and his whole face evinced his heart's received the Morning Post in due season, and was very

When I read this verse, giving due force to the 'Brave Derrick,' his cheeks brightened, his eyes sparkled, his whiskers curled, and his whole face evinced his heart's joy, although he said nothing. Katrina Van Clers puzzled him, and he asked me what it meant. I, knowing that he was acquainted with, and had paid some attention to Catharine B., told him it was the high Dutch translation of that lady's name. I told him I did not want the paper. 'Don't you, by G——? then it's mine!' Now, Mr Editor, if you have no objection, we will try the Lieutenant once more, if my versification will compensate for the mystification of the uninitiated. Yours, DRACO LEVIS.

Why wanders the Lieutenant now
With stealthy step and slow?
And what has banished from his cheeks
Their usual healthy glow?
Neglected are his whiskers,
Unshaven is his chin,
And every outward sign bespeaks
A heavy heart within.

No more among the waving woods
His fowling-piece is heard—
The woodcock does not start for him,
Nor dives the ocean bird.
His pleasure-boat lies idle,
Hauled far upon the shore,
Her snowy sails on high are spread
To catch the breeze no more.

The brave Lientenant's charger Frolics as he draws nigh, To win from him a free caress, But catches not his eye.

Once, like a true light-horseman,
He would caress his steed,
"And smooth his fet-locks and his mane, And joy to see him feed.'

Would change his straw with his own hands
But Izzle does it now—
Alas! that love for Catharine
Should cloud our trooper's brow.
Brave men are in Fort Hamilton—
Brave men with hoary hair—
They grieve for his departed pride,
And mourn his altered air.

They strive to rouse his martial fire—
A flame once pure and bright,
And tell him of the 'tented field',
The bivouac and fight;
When helmets braced, and blades uncased,
And chargers side by side,
The squadrons strong of stern dragoons
Fierce on the foemen ride.

Caught by a raven curl—
A cyguet neck, a brilliant eye—
A dear, enchanting girl!
Inconstant youth! a year before
Another caugh your heart—
"Twas when your famous fishing-smacks
Were ready to depart.

The kiss you gave her on the shore Was loud, that all agreed— My dear Lieutenant B., it was A fishing-smack indeed!
Give me a box of those cigars,
Or I'll inform, you dog,
And have your smuggling registered
On Uncle Sammy's log.

I've written to Katrina, Dick,
To warn her of your deeds:—
Thus ran my letter:—"Honoured Miss.
My heart with pity bleeds To see a lady of your worth
So heartlessly deceived—
But let my tales of trooper Dick,
Though caustic, be believed.

And think there's some life in it—
As for her heart—it matters not— But B. has skill to win it.

"The thing's a match—a ring is bought That scaly girl to wed,
With glass bead bracelets for her fins,
And brass combs for her head." Lieutenant! this is all a lie— I never wrote the letter— The fish-girl is a fancy sketch,

May luck and love your wooing speed With Catharine Van Clers! But don't neglect your honest steed,
Nor let rust spoil your spurs.
A smuggled box of prime cigars
Must cheer your drooping heart,
And long before your next parade

And you will wed a better.

At "Carman's" when the troop appears

At "Carman's" when the troop appear for broadsword exercise, Your arm must be the firmest there, And lightning in your eyes.
At leisure hours with Catharine Dance in her father's hall—But, boot and saddle and be off!
When the loud bugles call.

Avarice of a Persian King .- The avarice of Aga Mohammed some times betrayed him into awkward and even ludicrous predicaments. While superintending certain punishments one day, he heard a man who had been sentenced to lose his ears offering to the executioner a few pieces of silver, "if he would not shave them very close." He ordered the culprit instantly to be called, and told him that if he would double sum his ears should not be touched. The man, believing this to be only a facetious manner of announcing his pardon, prostrated himself, uttered his thanks, and was retiring, but he was recalled and given to understand that payment was really expected as the condition of his safety. On another occasion he himself disclosed a conspiracy to defraud his nobles. Riding out with some courtiers, a mendicant met the party, to whom some courtiers, a mendicant met the party, to whom through to Brattle st. and next door to No. 1 Market st. That night the sovereign's impatience betrayed his secret: "I have been cheated," said he to his minister; that scoundrel of a mendional of the soundrel of the soun his minister; that scoundrel of a mendicant, whom you saw this morning, not only promised to return my own money, but to give me half of what he should receive through its means from others!" Horsemen were instantly ordered in pursuit; but the fellow took care not to caught, and the courtiers langhed in their sleeve at his majesty's disappointment.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1834.

The Bank partisans, who roll up their eyes in holy horror at the idea of violence, are in reality using their best endeavors to introduce mob law into general adoption. They resort to it upon all occasions, when they can raise the necessary courage, and their editors support them in its exercise with the most unblushing impudence. We cantion them to beware how they proceed-for if they continue these outrages upon the public peace and private rights, they will have no reason to complain, if they are paid in their own coin. That the democratic party have thus far borne these wrongs peaceably and in silence, must not be attributed to any want of confidence in their own power to redress them, but to a desire to preserve the public peace and we assure the minions of the Bank, that it would have been better for them that they had never been born, than that they should provoke a retafiation of their insulting aggressions upon personal and party rights.. We have been led to these remarks by reading in the Bangor Courier, a detailed account of the insults offered to the Hon, Gorham Parks, Representative in Congress from Maine, upon his landing from the steamboat at Bangor; and we copy a part of that statement that our friends and the public may see a specimen of the practical "decency" of the opposi-

"The occurrences that took place in regard to the reception of Col. Parks, on the wharf, after the steam-boat arrived, were of a different character and wholly unconnected with the trivial political proceedings that took place on board the boat. Several hours before she arrived, it was whispered about the city, that Col. Parks, who was known to be on board, would be honored with a public reception—That a black-flag had been prepared, bearing for a motto, "1700 majority," and that a company, in uniform, with fantastic masks, or the like, would receive him with a salute of rotten eggs, and form his escort. Violence was premeditated; but less was committed than had been threatened. On coming out upon the wharf, and after he had entered his carriage, the mob, which had not wholly dispersed, although kept in waiting five hours, to accomplish its object, greeted him with shouts of "1700 majority!" "Over with him?" "Throw him into the river!" "Turn over his carriage!" Hissing, groaning, and throwing mud, dirt, and stones all the while."

About the period of the adjournment of Congress, a suggestion which appeared in a southern newspaper, that those Senators who had acted in opposition to the repeatedly expressed wishes of their constituents, might possibly be received with marks of disapprobation, was seized upon by the Bank papers, and published from one end of the Union to the other, with the severest comments, as an incentive to turbulence and riot. Those Senators passed to their homes unmolested : and yet, within a month, we find the very men who denounced any insult to them as an act little short of blasphemy, instigating and approving, with demoniac vengeance, a violent assault upon a member of the same Congress, who has not only truly represented his constituents, but acted upon the principles he openly professed at the time of his election. We leave it for the public to form an opinion upon the sincerity of variance; and we are willing that they should enjoy the freedom of speech and action, and of endeavoring to put down argument with brute force, and reason

The Boston Courier has its usual quantity of silly abuse of the President and the democratic party, in its columns of yesterday, and among its other remarks it has

"Our republic has been and still is, in some peril. The Executive of the United States has a greater power than the King of England has, as to means of corruption and misrule. If he had the power to declare war, he would inevitably become a despot, if he yield himself to the counsels of freedmen. The President has not more power than he ought to have if he uses it well. But to do this, he must be capable of commanding confidence, and be able to draw around him, high-minded hon-orable men. They must be men who have an accurate knowlof the substantial interests of this great and increasing naof characters and pretensions, from all quarters."

We had supposed, until this information which the sagacious editor of the Courier gives us, to the contrary, that General Jackson had been capable of commanding confidence. That the ninety-nine electoral votes which he received in 1824, was some evidence of confidence in him-that the 178 votes out of the 261, which Gen. Jackson received in 1828, when the people kicked the usurper from power, was another proof that he could command the confidence of the people; and we had supposed also, that at his second election, in 1832, the fact that the whole mottled opposition, of nullifiers, nationals, and anti-masons, with their three sets of candidates, could muster against him only 65 votes, out of 288, was some proof of his commanding confidence.

But it seems these are not of a feather's weight in the opinion of the Courier. He belongs to that class who claim to possess all the virtue, talents, and wealth of the country-the exclusive professors of religion-the only friends of order, and opponents of mob law. What a pity that so much wisdom and purity should ALWAYS be defeated by ignorance and vice!

The Figure Head .- We have received a communication from an individual who claims-to the great disparagement of the New York here "aged 18," and the Whig party generally-the whole honor of having sawed off the head of Gen. Jackson's effigy. Our derapitator asserts that he had a saw constructed for the occasion-that he bribed the sentinels to be deaf during the operation-and that he now has the head in his possession; he omits, however, to state where he obtained the money necessary to pay for the saw, and halle the sentinels-and leaves us entirely in the dark, as to whether it was contributed by the good society wigs of Boston, giram outright by the U.S. Bank, and charged under the head of "stationary, &c," or granted, as a "fair business transaction," in the way of a loan.

As communications of this description are very readily swallowed by two or three New York editors, we shall hold the one we have received subject to their order ; so that when there present lion shall have had his day, they may be prepared with another, whose valiant exploits are equally well authenticated, and equally worthy of belief.

We have good reasons for believing that the Bank and Federal party have resolved to visit every family in Maine, to endeavor to induence every voter in every possible manner. RODGERS' IMPERIAL STOCKS.

New Orleans is now the highest market for flour in the U. States. At the last dates the price was $7,50 per brl. Last winter N. Orleans was the lowest seaboard market in the country. Great quantities of flour were exported thence coastwise and to foreign ports at $3,25. Some of it was sold in this market sweet and good at $3,75.—N. Y. J. Com.

It is proper to state in vindication of the American character that the madman who advertised through the Liberator for a negro wife is an Englishman by birth—a stocking weaver by trade; has never been naturalized, and has been heard to say he never would be.

About thirty miles below New Albany, Indiana, the steamboat Arkansas, coming up, run into the Planter going down, by which the latter was so much injured, that she sunk immediately. Her cargo, to the amount of $12,000, was insured by some office in Louisville.

The Louisville (Ky.) Journal states, that Dr J. P. Declary, of that city, put an end to his life on the morning of the 4th inst., by opening the carrotid artery with a lancet, which he usually carried with him. The act was the result of mental alienation.

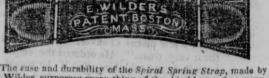

There have been five deaths by cholera the present season, in Portsmouth, Ohio. Cases have also occurred on almost all the different crafts that sail on the Ohio and Mississippi, but the disease is said to have lost most of its terrors.

The Louisville (Ky.) Journal states, that Dr J. P. LoTion. Prepared from his receipt. For softening and beautifying the complexion. Its efficacy is known by hundreds, for whitening and beautifying the skin; removes freckles, and all kinds of Eruptions, Scorfuls and Sail Rheum. As an application to the face, when it has been exposed to the sun, there is nothing so cooling and effectual in removing the redness caused by the heat. This inestimable Lotion is for sale at the Chemist Store of WILLIAM BROWN, No. 421 Washington, corner of Elliot street; likewise, to be had at wholesale of HENSHAW also occurred on almost all the different crafts that sail on the Ohio and Mississippi, but the disease is said to have lost most of its terrors.

The Compound Chlorine Tooth Wash has the further advantage of cleansing the mouth also—and of removing whatever is offensive in the breath. It hardens the gums and is a valuable remedy for canker or soreness of the mouth. It may also be used with the greatest advantage as a gargle for sore throat. In fine, it preserves the teeth and mouth in all respects in a clean and healthy condition. It is agreeable to the taste. Gentlemen who are in the habit of using tobacco, will find that the tooth wash will speedily remove all the effects of it from the mouth. njurious. It will also be found to keep the brush itself free

That the public may rest assured of the very salutary effects of this composition, the following recommendations from gen tlemen of the highest respectability are submitted.

From J. W. Webster, M. D. Erving Professer of Chemistry in Harvard University.

Harvard University, Cambridge, March 14, 1831.

Messrs. Lowe & Reed. Gentlemen—I have examined the Compound Chlorine Tooth Wash received from you, and have no hesitation in stating my belief that it will answer the purpose for which you have compounded it. I have discovered in it no ingredient which can prove injurious to the teeth.

Yours, &c. J. W. WEBSTER.

From Sylvanus Plympton, M D.

Messrs. Lowe & Reed. Gentlemen—I have frequently administered your Compound Chlorine Tooth Wash in various affections of the mouth and throat—and relief has been immediate and permanent. In a neuralgic affection of the face and head, arising from a depraved state of the gums and defective teeth, which resisted many powerful, approved medicines, this Wash acted like a charm. I hesitate not to give it my entire approphation for the purposes for which it was made, and conapprobation for the purposes for which it was made, and consider it one of the most safe, pleasant, and effectual articles of the kind ever offered to the public. S PLYMPTON. I am yours, &c.

Cambridge, Dec. 9, 1831.

From Mr. A. A. Hayes, Operative Chemist and Superintendent of the Roxbury Chemical Works.

Messrs. Love & Reed. Gentlemen—Having examined the bottle of Compound Chlorine Tooth Wash you gave me, and become acquainted with its composition, it affords me pleasure to express my belief, that it well deserves the high reputation it has acquired—It does not contain any substance in solution. it has acquired.-It does not contain any substance in solution or suspension, which can either chemically or mechanically injure the teeth, and observation and experience confirm the A. This is to certify, that I have been troubled in the spring and summer seasons with a dull and stupid feeling, which very much troubled me while about my business, and by taking some of Warner's Purifying Powders, I have found it a perfect remedy, and with confidence recommend it to others who may be similarly affected.

Boston, April 16th, 1832.

Joseph Moore, of Boston, certifies that he has taken Warner's Family Corrective, or Purifying Powder for purifying the blood, and curing of jaundice, and likewise removing the propensity to sleep, and has found it an effectual remedy.

NDIGESTION, JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS. Anderson's Vegetable Elixir, for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice and Bilious Complaints; weakness of the Stomach and Bowels, and consequent loss of appetite; nervous complaints, headach, sour stomach, flatilicae and habitual costiveness.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances, perfectly safe in its operation, and may be given to children persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of convenience.

or persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of inconvenience.

The uniform success which has attended the use of it where it has been extensively used, in Boston and various other parts of the United States, and in the West Indies, attested by disin terested and highly respectable persons, affords, next to a trial of the medicine itself, the best commentary upon its virtues, and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain attended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours, completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very valuable medicine.

Proof of which can be seen by those who will take the trouble to call at the Agent's Store and examine a Double Chest which has passed through a very severe fire, and preserved a valuable lot of books and papers, belonging to John S. Abbott, Esq., whose name is attached to the following certificate:

"This is to certify, that one of the above described Double Safes, which I purchased of the Messrs. S. A. & W. G. Pierce was in my office in this town when the office was burned on the 2d day of November last—the building was of two stories, wooden, and large. The Safe, weighing 700 lbs. fell from the second story into the cellar, and was exposed to an intense heat for nearly three hours. It was for a long time literally red hot. It contained all the account books, notes, and courtpapers, that were in my office; and no paper was in the least degree burnt or rendered illegible. JOHN S. ABBOTT.

Gaylor's Double Safes are a Patent article, and can only be legally purchased in this city of S. A. & W. G. PIERCE, who are his authorized Agents.

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any culogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. PATIENT CORK FOR COLLARS AND SAD-DLES.—The American Cork Company offer for sale, ground or grated Cork for studing Horse Collars and Saddles. The utility of the article has been fully tested, the past year, in a great number of cases where horses' breasts had become sore and inflamed by the use of the ordinary collars.

It has been proved beyond a doubt, to surpass every other substance that has yet been known or used for that purpose.—The fact that it will not become matted, and is a non-conductor of heat, must convince every person of its value. But one farther advantage is, these Collars fit the breast of a horse immediately on their application, which is not the case with any other material. A certificate as to the utility of the article, is subjoined.
